[redacted] does not typically work courtroom security. He believed he was being asked to assist because the trial was the last Tongan Crip Gang (TCG) related trial. He worked the TCG RICO trial and knew that trial had been a safety concern for the Marshal's service. He assumed his addition to this case was because the Marshal's service was concerned with security at this trial as well. Due to his many assignments as a Deputy Marshal [redacted] was familiar with members of TCG. He knew of and had heard of the violent crimes in which TCG members had been involved. He was not familiar with Angilau.

He had been told Angilau was currently incarcerated for acts of violence to include robberies, assaults and shooting at two Deputy Marshals.

On Monday, April 21, 2014, at approximately 8:40am he arrived at the

[REDACTED] his name to verify he was the

[REDACTED] was carrying a firearm.

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] knew it was US Marshal policy to have a Deputy Marshal near the witness, so he took up position between [REDACTED] and the jury. He saw at least 4 Deputy Marshals and a Court Security Officer (CSO) in the courtroom.

Again, he explained it was a little odd to walk into a courtroom while the trial was on going. He indicated he began looking around the courtroom [REDACTED] He also recognized several faces of various law enforcement officers in the gallery. He assumed this was because of the individual on trial.

Due to his positioning and the placement of the podium, he could not see the defense table very well. He stepped to the left a little so that he could see Angilau. He wanted to assess Angilau's behavior while [REDACTED] was being questioned. [REDACTED] said everything appeared normal at the defense table.

[REDACTED] moved again to his right and his view of Angilau and the defense team was again blocked by the podium. A prosecutor was at the podium questioning [REDACTED]

After a few minutes, [REDACTED] saw Angilau rushing towards him. [REDACTED] was surprised, as he did not see Angilau get up due to his position.

Angilau was moving very quickly and [REDACTED] realized he was not shackled. [REDACTED] was never informed Angilau would not be in restraints. [REDACTED] was not certain, but believed that all TCG members wore leg irons during their earlier trial.

[REDACTED] indicated Angilau ran toward [REDACTED] with a sharp, pointed object in his right hand. He described Angilau as carrying the object as one would carry a knife if they were preparing to stab someone.

As Angilau approached [REDACTED] was not sure who Angilau was running toward [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] recalled Angilau was carrying the sharp object in a determined, rapid approach toward [REDACTED] drew his firearm and believes he fired at Angilau right before Angilau "went airborne" over the witness stand. [REDACTED] recalled trying to pivot so that he was not shooting into the gallery. He thinks he fired 3-4 times at Angilau. Angilau went over the witness stand and landed on the floor very near [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] covered Angilau with his firearm. He indicated he knew he hit Angilau because he saw blood. [REDACTED] did not recall immediately looking around, but remained focused on Angilau. [REDACTED] was told by Deputy Marshal [REDACTED] to "stay on gun". [REDACTED] believed this was told said because [REDACTED] was the only one in the courtroom with a gun, but he does not know that for sure.

[REDACTED] noticed [REDACTED] kneeling on the floor with his head down [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Deputy Marshall [REDACTED] arrived and told [REDACTED] to leave the room. [REDACTED] explained that due to his experience in previous shootings, [REDACTED] knew that the shooter is quickly removed from the scene of the shooting in order to avoid additional trauma. [REDACTED] directed [REDACTED] to give his firearm [REDACTED] escorted [REDACTED] from the courtroom to the elevator and took him to the fourth floor United States Marshal's Office.
